To ALL Resource Families:

Whether you are a relative/kinship caregiver, a non-related extended family member (NREFM) or a resource family approved caregiver, YOU ARE IMPORTANT and although the steps you took to become a caregiver for a child in foster care may be different, we welcome you as part of the DHS TEAM of Resource Families. THANK YOU for the valuable services you provide to families in times of temporary crises. You open your hearts and homes to the children who are coping with family disruptions. This resource directory/guide was developed to assist you as resource family caregivers. We hope that you find this to be a useful guide.

The Resource Family Guide to Services is available on the County of Kern Web site, Department of Human Services, at www.KCDHS.org Be sure to click on “resource family approval” under the services tab, then click on the “additional information.” This guide is listed under “additional handouts.”

Kern County Resource Families are Valued, Respected, Supported, and skilled Partners and Advocates who:

- Provide safe loving homes.
- Commit to development and success of children and families.
- Encourage family connections and nurturing relationships.
- Maintain a lifelong connection to children whenever possible.

HEALTH CARE SERVICES

Once a child is placed in foster care, the child’s medical care becomes a shared responsibility. The Social Worker, the foster parents, as well as the parents – have a role to play in the child’s medical care and treatment. Everyone involved in the placement should be aware of the child’s current health, medical problems, and need for medical examination and immunization.

Tips to Enhance Family Life

- Every family has its own rules and ways of doing things. To prevent discipline problems help the child understand your family's rules and expectations. When a child does something wrong for the first time, explain exactly what he or she did and why the right way is important in the foster home.
- Praise and reward good behavior.
- Hold family meetings to solve problems. Cooperation and mutual respect can help create an accepting family atmosphere in which children can develop self-discipline, responsibility, cooperation, and problem-solving skills.
- Don't make threats to send the child away. This will only increase the child's anxiety and intensify the problem or conflict
- Spend special time with the child. Do something that the child and Resource Family can enjoy together. Children in care may have an intense need for attention, reassurance, and acceptance by the Resource Family and members of the family.

Guide to DHS Programs

The Department of Human Services offers several programs to assist youth with their educational, employment and transitional needs. Outlined below are brief descriptions of those available services. See the Department of Human Services website at www.KCDHS.org for more detailed information.

Cal-Learn

Cal-Learn is a mandatory program for CalWORKs (cash aid) recipients who are under 19 years of age, are pregnant or parenting, and have not yet completed their high school diploma and live in the same household as their child. It is designed to attack long-term welfare dependency by encouraging and assisting teen parents to stay in or return to high school or its equivalent and earn a diploma or GED. You can receive assistance with:

- Child care expenses
- School expenses
- Transportation expenses
- Family planning

Independent Living Program (ILP)

The Independent Living Program (ILP) assist youth 16 and older who are in foster care, or who have been in foster care after their 16th birthday up to age 21, achieve self-sufficiency as they transition from foster care to independent living. This program offers educational, employment as well as housing assistance.

Services:

- Transitional Independent Living Plan
- Education Planning
- College and Financial Aid Applications
- ILP Employment Counselors
- Career Planning, Job Leads, Resumes
- Transitional Housing for Emancipated Youth
- Emancipation Conferences and Special Life Skills Workshops
- Transportation Assistance
- Resource Directory
- ILP Scholarships
- Introduction to California Youth Connection (CYC)
- Incentives for ILP participation
- Mentoring
- Assistance in Obtaining Birth Certificate, Social Security Card, California Identification Card and Savings Account
- Viewing Your Child Welfare Case File

Additional ILP Services:

- Building Blocks Transitional Housing Program
Building Blocks is an on-site program that lends educational, employment, financial budgeting, and personal goal setting skills to help youth achieve self-sufficiency. Participating youth will be required to work full or part-time and may also attend school.
- Transitional Housing Placement Plus Program: H.O.S.T. Families
Youth live with a HOST family who is either pre-approved as a HOST family, or a family the youth has an established relationship with. Participants may live with a host family for up to one year while receiving a $300 monthly stipend.
- Scattered-Site Housing Program
Program requires that the youth obtain or currently reside in an apartment or rental arrangement, and for a period of 1 year, a stipend in the amount of $300 will be provided to the youth.
- Dream Center
The Dream Center assists current and former foster youth transition to independence and self-sufficiency. Services utilize a formal case management system.

Other Supportive Services...

These family based services build on family strengths to help meet a child's safety needs. Services are provided to prevent placement of children in foster care whenever possible; to help reunify children placed in foster care, to help identify alternative permanent homes when necessary, or to stabilize foster care placements.

Early Intervention Services (EIS):

EIS program is under development. The purpose of the EIS program is to ensure all children under three years old, with a substantiated child abuse and/or neglect referral receive:

- (a) A developmental screening using the Ages and Stages Questionnaire (ASQ),
- (b) Are referred to developmental and educational services if the screening results indicate a need, and
- (c) Are provided assessments and proper services when needed.

The EIS program was selected for implementation based on research on infants and toddlers, the requirement under Keeping Children and Families Safe Act of 2003 that emphasizes enhanced linkages between child protective services, public health, mental health and developmental disabilities agencies, and the CAPTA requirement that child protective services refer children under the age of three who are involved in a substantiated case of child abuse or neglect to early intervention services.

Family Finding & Engagement (FFE)

Using the family finding model, social workers locate and engage relatives of children in order to reconnect them with family members to establish or maintain family bonding and possible relative placements. The goal of FFE is to provide each child with the lifelong connections that family members can offer. Per AB 938, the social worker must exercise due diligence to identify and locate relatives within 30 days of the child's removal from the home. A Family Finding unit has been created to expedite relative placements, re-establish family bonds and provide placement matching.

The Kern County Treatment Foster Care Oregon (TFCO)

(Formerly MTFC) is looking for resource parents who are willing and able to provide a stable home for children who have significant behavioral problems which have jeopardized their placements in the past. KCTFCO is a strengths-based program that provides specialized training and increased support from social workers and mental health partners. In this program, the caretakers and the child work closely with a social worker and the child's mental health team. Caretakers will provide feedback about the child's behavior each week, attend a brief, weekly meeting with other KCTFCO resource parents, and will receive the higher specialized care increments for the child while the child is in the program. Children are able to earn incentives their team for improved behavior. These special children are screened from the program with the goal in mind of reunifying them with either their parents or someone else important in their lives and KCTFCO is typically a 6 to 12 months program. If you would like more information about the program, please contact Heather Garcia at 661-868-8358.

Intensive Services Foster Care (ISFC)

ISFC program is open to resource families who would like to care for foster youth who require intensive treatment and behavioral supports. Being an ISFC resource parent requires a significant commitment of time, involvement and responsibility that includes participating as an integral part of the youth's team. As ISFC is a comprehensive program, resource parents are required to take pre-placement and ongoing training classes to be an ISFC resource family. Training is specialized to meet the specific needs of the foster youth in the home that is receiving ISFC services.

Resource parents will have the support of the Kern Bridges ISFC team; including professional and paraprofessional services that meet the youth and family's needs. Formal and informal Child Family Team Meetings (CFTMs) will encourage effective collaboration in case plan implementation. ISFC resource parents will also have access to 24-hour crisis assistance in which they can contact the ISFC team during non-business hours.

Further, ISFC resource parents will receive a higher reimbursement rate that reflects the intensive services they are providing to the youth in their care. Resource parents play a profoundly significant role in the ISFC program and thus are afforded the respect of professional therapeutic parents due to the challenges they will encounter when working with these youth. For more information about the ISFC Program, please call Melissa Soin at 661-873-2382.

Respite Care:

Respite Care is temporary care for eligible children in foster care for periods not to exceed 72 hours and shall be provided by licensed, approved or certified caregivers. These services shall not be provided for the purpose of routine, ongoing childcare. Respite care providers must meet specific licensing criteria to accept children for respite care and have current, age appropriate CPR/First Aid certification, be current with annual training requirements, obtain permission and paperwork from the “child’s” Social Worker, and have an understanding of how to obtain medical care for the “child” while in your care. Respite care providers who are licensed are expected to notify their Licensing Program Analyst that you will be providing respite. Since this is a specialized program participants must receive authorization from the child’s social worker/supervisor prior to finalizing arrangements for respite care.

Specialized Care and Incentive Assistance Program and Respite Care (SCIAP):

Use of SCIAP funds is limited to specific goods and services on a NON-RECURRING basis. Only federally eligible dependents of the court placed with relatives, foster family homes and legal guardians are eligible. Those NOT eligible include children in group homes or foster family agency homes, children receiving SSI/Social Security only benefits and undocumented children.

SCIAP Can Help With:

- Summer camp and sports
- Club tuitions and fees
- Tutoring
- Graduation costs
- Musical items
- AT&T phone cards (Phone cards help children maintain contact with out-of-state family members)
- Wal-Mart gift cards (Gift cards are to purchase emergency clothing for child in need, as approved by SCIAP coordinator)
- Replace glasses/retainers
- 4-H-project livestock
- Medical equipment (not covered by: Medi-cal)
- Orthodontia
- Respite Care

Special Care Increment (SCI):

These funds are paid in addition to foster care benefits, on behalf of a child placed in the home that requires specialized care because of health and/or behavioral issues. At no point is an SCI payment automatic. Caretakers should discuss any unusual medical and/or behavioral concerns with the assigned Social worker. All requests are them made by the assigned Social Worker.

Eligible Situations may include:

- Transporting child to frequent medical and/or counseling appointments or court-ordered visits requiring extensive travel.
- Medications and/or medical equipment and supplies not covered by Medi-Cal but prescribed or recommended by the child’s physician solely for the child’s use.
- Severe behavioral problems requiring constant extraordinary supervision.
- Medically fragile, severe medical problems or developmental disabilities requiring an intensive level of care.
- Children who require constant supervision

Child Family Team Meetings (CFTM):

A Child Family Team meeting is held when a decision needs to be made about where a child should live. These meetings are attended by the parents, the child (if appropriate), relatives, neighbors, community members, service providers, caregivers, social workers and supervisors. Anyone the family would like to invite is welcome. The goal is to make a plan that everyone feels is in the best interest of the child.

WRAP Around Services:

The Wraparound Program is designed to provide intensive services as an alternative to group home placement. The children qualify for a 10 – 14 level group home due to behavior problems and are at risk of losing placement. The principles of the Wraparound Program maintain that we provide services utilizing a “no eject, no reject” policy and that the children in our program receive unconditional care from a strengths based perspective. The child is assigned a team of people that work specifically on the issues that put the child’s placement at risk; which includes providing support to the caregivers. Examples of some of the behaviors our teams work with include:

- Frequent run away
- Posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD)
- Oppositional and/or defiant behavior
- Self-injurious behavior
- Sexualized behavior
- Aggressive/assaultive behavior
- Substance abuse
- Fire starting
- Minor criminal behavior
- School truancy
